

A hands-on initiative to sow Torah into the soil of Israel

The Vision

To build an educational farm in the Lower Galilee, Israel. Our mission is two-fold: one, to teach Jews how to live on and off the land G-d gives us; and two, to educate Jews on proper fulfillment of all the agricultural mitzvot.

Why Now?

We live in a fast-paced world that is more technologically advanced and automated than ever. On one hand, this has brought a level of comfort to everyday life that previous generations could hardly imagine. On the other hand, we are watching once-valued skills fade into obscurity. Automation is pushing us back to the essentials — working with our hands, cultivating the soil, teaching, and other foundational skills that have been disappearing in the past few generations. We are privileged to live in a time when we can return to these core pursuits while still enjoying a level of comfort and ease unlike any other era in history.

“חדש ימינו כקדם” – Our Future Lies in a Return to Our Past

Our future lies in a return to our past — to the way Avraham, Yitzchak, Yaakov, David HaMelech, the Maccabees, and countless generations lived: with Torah as the foundation of national life, deeply connected to the Land of Israel. The Torah was meant to be observed both in and on the Land, with so many mitzvot — the mitzvot hateluyot ba’aretz — tied to its soil, seasons, and produce. This divine system is complete only when we as a nation observe the mitzvot, receive G-d’s blessings of abundance, and bring those blessings to the Beit HaMikdash to thank Him. While not every Jew is meant to be a full time farmer, our national presence and engagement with the Land are essential to our national mission and relationship with Hashem.
